FACON TABLE.

The Facon Table was designed by Henrik Tengler in 2014. It is characterised by having an asymmetric, rounded tabletop, which is wider in one end than in the other.

This innovative egg-shape ensures an undisturbed view of any presentation at the wide end of the table, for everyone. The characteristic shape also allows for a more dynamic interior, since the table can be placed freely in a room without a strict sense of direction.

The Facon Table is available in several sizes with a tabletop in linoleum, oak, ash, walnut or teak veneer. The base of the table consists of two three-star pedestals in a graphite powder coating or stainless steel.

Customised solutions can be produced upon request.
